President's Message

by Rich Lange, President

This year has sped by (2023) and the new (2024) has arrived! Hold on tight, things are moving incredibly fast! We've had several in-person lectures this past fall and early winter, and field trips have been well-attended and popular. Thanks to the Vice-Presidents for Activities for the arrangements and for all of you who have participated! Many more good lectures and field trips are coming up. We hope you can join us!

Zoom attendance has also been great, and, of course, you can find the earlier lectures on YouTube—all this technology makes our programs accessible to a wide audience. We have had some technical issues with our lectures but have sorted most of them out and continue to improve the programs and the sharing and archiving of those programs.

We are all hoping that the predicted wetter winter weather happens, as moisture is always welcome by everyone and everything in this typically dry part of the world. I've recently been thinking a lot about precipitation and streamflow and just how predictable such things would be in the absence of satellites and years of data and the computers to crank out all those numbers to find trends. What stands out to me is that, despite all these numbers, the picture for an individual or community trying to live and survive in a particular location is framed and shaded by uncertainty. One storm can bring needed relief, help, and good harvests. Another storm can bring flooding and destruction of fields and homes. It's never easy!

I'll wrap this up for the month by appealing to everyone one more time to help AAHS financially if you possibly can. AAHS wants to continue our support for research and travel to students and colleagues. The January program has been designated the "Winter Party," and it will take place with a day-long gathering at historic Ft. Lowell in Tucson. There will be guided tours of historic and prehistoric components on the property, a catered lunch, and afternoon sessions addressing concerns and opportunities for students and young professionals and the needs of archaeology, anthropology, and history in the coming decades. There may even be a happy hour afterwards!

You will soon receive notices advertising more details and requesting your response so we can appropriately plan for the tours, the setup, and the lunch and snacks. Please let us know so we can plan accordingly. Happy New Year everyone, and we'll see you in January 2024!

UPCOMING AAHS FIELD TRIPS

Field trips are only available to current AAHS members and are limited to 20 people unless otherwise noted. For more information or to sign up, email aahs1916@gmail.com.

Tonto Basin Salado Sites

February 24, 2024

Chris Loendorf, an archaeologist with the Gila River Indian Community, and Katherine Shaum, an archaeologist with the Tonto National Forest, will lead an all-day tour to Salado sites in the Tonto Basin.

Sutherland Wash Rock Art District

March 2, 2024

Bill Gillespie, retired U.S. Forest Service archaeologist, and Stan Ponczek, both AAHS board members, will lead a tour to the Sutherland Wash site. This is a half-day trip within the Tucson Area, which will involve about 5 miles of moderate hiking.

Paquimé (Casas Grandes), Chihuahua, Mexico

April 2024

A 4-day trip is under development for a weekend in April to Paquimé, also known as Casas Grandes, in Chihuahua Mexico. Paul Minnis, a leading archeologist in the archaeology of the region, will be our guide. The trip will be Friday–Monday, with specific dates to be determined. This trip will require a passport or passport card.

Mogollon Rim May 2024 (date TBD)

A field trip to a site on the Mogollon Rim is being planned; more details to follow.

Anderson Mesa and Flagstaff, Arizona June 8-9, 2024

Peter Pillis, forest archeologist for the Coconino National Forest, will provide a two-day tour of sites east of Flagstaff and at Anderson Mesa south of Flagstaff. Day 2 will require a high clearance vehicle.

CALL FOR RESEARCH AND TRAVEL GRANT PROPOSALS

AAHS entertains proposals for Research and Travel Grant Awards each year between January 1 and February 15. Membership in AAHS is required and all members are eligible to apply.

Research and Travel Grant Awards

AAHS Research Grants are awarded annually up to the amount of $1,400. Travel Grants are also available for up to $700 to support or present research. Research proposals in archaeology, anthropology, history, or ethnology in the U.S. Southwest or Northern Mexico are considered.

Carryl B. Martin – F. Lewis Orrell Jr. Research Grant

This annual $5,000 grant honors two of AAHS's benefactors, Carryl B. Martin and F. Lewis Orrell Jr., whose bequests to the Society made this award possible.

A single award of $5,000 is given annually to a high quality archaeological or historical research project that focuses on significant questions in the archaeology or history of the southwestern U.S. or Northern Mexico. In the spirit of Carryl Martin and F. Lewis Orrell Jr., projects that provide opportunities for participation by avocational researchers or that allow for collaboration with affiliated descendant communities will be prioritized.

*Please visit the AAHS website for grant details.

New Knowledge Available On Point of Pines

The Stratigraphy and Chronology of Point of Pines Pueblo: Basic Facts that Underlie Complex Inferences Regarding Interactions Between Locals and Immigrants

This article, just published in Kiva: Journal of Southwestern Anthropology and History, is the most recent in a series of publications and presentations that reflect Dr. Patrick Lyons's ongoing research on the Point of Pines material housed at the Arizona State Museum.

Recent Discoveries Regarding Point of Pines Pueblo

A six-part series taught by Dr. Patrick D. Lyons, ASM director and curator, and professor of anthropology.

Wednesdays, Jan 31, Feb 7, 14, 21, 28, and Mar 6, 2024

Excavated from 1946 to 1958 by the Arizona State Museum and the University of Arizona Department (now School) of Anthropology, Point of Pines Pueblo was the largest late pre-Hispanic settlement in the mountains of Arizona, consisting of as many as 800 rooms. Point of Pines Pueblo has long been at the center of discussions about ancient migrations in the U.S. Southwest and interactions between locals and immigrants. However, a lack of systematic analysis of the collections from the site and a dearth of published data about it have left generations of researchers in the position of having to make assumptions about social processes unfolding in the Point of Pines region based on Emil W. Haury's (1958) six-page summary of his complex inferences. This Master Class explores the results of four recent studies focused on the unpublished collections from the site and their associated records, including original fieldnotes, maps, and photographs.
